Thank you for your interest in joining the Undergraduate Student Government at the Storrs Campus of the University of Connecticut. The Undergraduate Student Government (USG) is one of the largest student organizations, with an annual budget of approximately $1.4 million. The primary duties of USG include allocating that money to different student groups and other initiatives, representing the student body to the administration, town, and state, and assisting in the development of, and spearheading the development of initiatives to benefit the student body.

In this packet, you will find a description of USG as a whole, a description of the different positions that you can run for, rules and regulations governing the elections for those seats, as well as a series of forms that you must complete in order to appear on the ballot. If you have any questions, comments, or concerns, feel free to reach out to the Elections Oversight Committee at eoc@usg.uconn.edu

The Undergraduate Student Government

The Undergraduate Student Government is broadly organized into three branches - the executive, legislative, and judicial. The executive branch consists of the President, Vice-President, Comptroller, Chiefs of Staff, and any other persons that may be formally recruited to carry out the tasks of the Undergraduate Student Government. The President is responsible for guiding the direction of the organization and nominating persons to fill different positions, including the student held positions on University administration task forces and committees. The legislative branch is led by the Speaker, Deputy Speaker, Parliamentarian, and any other persons that may be agreed to by senate resolution as a leader of the body. Senators are members of the legislative branch and vote on the most crucial matters that come before the Undergraduate Student Government. Additionally, Senators must each sit on at least one committee, where they assist with the various initiatives that the committee undertakes. The judicial branch is led by the Chief Justice and a number of Associate Justices. The judicial branch is responsible for resolving conflicts within the Undergraduate Student Government.

The standing committees of the Undergraduate Student Government are all charged with advocating for the undergraduate student body. Each committee has a different focus.

Here are the standing committee descriptions:

Academic Affairs: Mondays 5pm-6pm
The Academic Affairs Committee is responsible for taking action on academic issues such as advising, textbooks, faculty evaluations, course requirements and academic integrity. The Committee also distributes free study materials to students during final exams in an effort to foster academic achievement. The members of the committee have a close relationship with both administrators and students, making effective change a habit.

External Affairs: Fridays 2pm-3pm
The External Affairs Committee acts as the advocates for students to local, state, and national policy makers. The Committee works on issues such as rising tuition and fees, representing student interest in the Town of Mansfield, and lobbying state legislators.

Funding Board: Mondays 8pm-9pm (Members must be nominated to and approved by the Senate)
The Funding Board is the committee that handles appropriating funds to undergraduate student groups. This committee works closely with all of the student groups on campus. The members find ways to help students acquire funds in accordance with USG policies, acts, and regulations, as well as any applicable State laws and University policies.

Student Development: Thursdays 5pm-6pm
The Student Development Committee is dedicated to the cultures brought to campus by students and the overarching spirit of UConn. In order to cultivate a deep sense of pride that extends beyond a student's tenure at this University, Student Development works to help students realize the importance of diversity, sports and interest clubs, and continued work for social education on campus. Advocacy work concentrates on increased visibility of the students associated with these groups and issues as well as campaigns for university consciousness in relation to them.

Student Services: Tuesdays 6pm-7pm
The Student Services Committee is responsible for the advocacy of student quality of life issues relating to health, dining, recreation, housing, transportation, and safety. The Committee has previously worked to get Wi-Fi installed in the Student Recreation Center and adjusted dining hall hours to better fit students’ schedules.

Programs Oversight: Wednesdays 2pm-3pm
The Programs Oversight Committee is charged with building and offering resources that benefit the entire campus. We are ever growing and expanding in the services that we provide, such as the New York Times Readership program and the Wall Street Journal program, and working with Tier-II organizations through the SOC. The USG Programs Office is responsible for spinning off many of the major student-run organizations around campus today, such as RHA (The Residence Hall Association), SUBOG (Student Union Board of Governors), and the Daily Campus. As a new committee we have incredible potential in benefiting the greater UConn student body.
